

To whom,
Why would you only allow people who listen to old fashioned radio to be aware of traffic conditions and weather? XM is a great service, the first to make the foray into satellite radio, and they're only trying to improve that service for their subscribers. Weather and traffic information is something we should all have access to no matter TV, radio or satellite radio subscriber.

Let's not put a damper on the latest in entertainment and information technology right out of the gate! Take off your blinders and see the future, it has arrived in the form of XM.

Thank you for listening,
Pete Sharkey
